Improving Teaching: Strengthening the College Learning Experience

The American Academy in the Commission on the Future of Undergraduate Learning, a collaborative of more than 150 institutions, has issued a report that aims to help educators train for the digital age by providing a new framework.

Finals Week Support from the Kortschak Center

The Kortschak Center for Learning and Creativity is preparing a variety of resources to help you during your most challenging week of the semester. On-demand support only can price tag you or support staff, and the most challenging week can be the one that leaves you feeling lost. The Kortschak Center for Learning and Creativity provides a variety of resources to help you during finals week, from preparing for the big exam to helping you to manage your stress. This week, we're here to help you make the most of your time and stay ahead of the game.

Tips for Helping Students with Welcome Day

At this time of the year, students and families may find themselves overwhelmed with tasks and responsibilities. We recommend setting aside some time each day to focus on your own well-being and to take a break from the daily grind. Here are some tips for helping students with Welcome Day:

- Note-taking skills
- Time management
- Stress management
- Nutrition
- Physical activity

Required Course Materials for Next Semester?
